AZENCO

Life is better outside

We're inviting you to a new kind of outdoor experience, where you are at one with nature and have control over the elements. Our full range of products are sophisticated and strong — and we will custom-engineer them to make the most of your space.

We're building on our legacy of innovation by merging precision manufacturing, artful design and the best of home automation technology. Every detail has been thoughtfully considered, from streamlined exteriors with no visible screws to double-wall louvers and hidden gutter systems.

Soak up the sun, dial in just the right amount of shade, and stay dry when the rain comes.

When you're ready to step outside, we will be with you every step of the way — from dreaming up your new space together to standing by you with an industry-leading warranty and service program.

Building Your Dreams on our Legacy of Innovation

Stand beside one of our pergolas, carports or pool covers, and see pleasing proportions and clean lines that enhance the landscape around you. Watch the wind buffet tree branches nearby while your patio cover stands firm. Feel the first drop of rain and watch the louvers above close themselves mere seconds later.

You can't see it with the naked eye, but decades of experience in engineering and technology make these experiences possible.

We trace our history to 1996, when Charles Chapus created Abrisud. He earned around 20 patents for his suite of products and made his company the European leader in pool covers by 2005. Chapus continued to design new products and new methods for crafting them, earning more patents with O Plus Piscine in France, which had four retail locations and built more than 500 pools.

Chapus formed Azenco Groupe France in 2011 before expanding to Spain in 2016, along with Switzerland and the United States in 2017. In 2019, Azenco achieved milestones on both sides of the Atlantic: partnering with Akena Group, the number one sunroom manufacturer in Europe, becoming the leading maker of pool enclosures in the European market, and opening its first U.S. manufacturing facility in Miami, Florida.

Today, we use our 25 years of experience and 30 patents to create products that make life better outdoors for our customers and their guests. But we aren't resting on the achievements in the past — every day, we're applying new insights and the latest technology to continue driving our work forward.

Let's create the outdoor life of your dreams together.

Better Design.

Better Quality.

Better Experience.

Better Design

Elevating your space, enhancing your life.

You've considered every detail of your existing space, from the fundamental layout to the color and texture of your walls, along with the furniture, lighting and landscaping that add comfort and vitality. Now that you're imagining the addition of a pergola, carport or pool cover, you expect — and deserve — the same thoughtful approach.

That's what we're here to deliver.

Our full line of products are designed to elegantly complement any architectural style, with clean lines and clever details that offer an elevated experience of the outdoor world around you.

Over the past 25 years, we've refined the precision engineering that delivers strength and durability, earning new patents for our products and processes. And we've continued to integrate the latest technology, from smart sensors to mobile app controls.

These technical achievements are the foundation for what you do — and don't — see. When you look up from underneath one of our pergolas, you may not notice the length of our seamless spans of aluminum, or the lack of visible screws, or the way rainwater flows into the posts and out of sight.

And that's the whole point. We'll bring you closer to what you want to enjoy outdoors.
